

When you're here,
you're home

Message from the Principal:

Good afternoon parents,

I am excited to start seeing parents flood our school to check on their child's progress this school year. Some sample questions that might help your conference run smoothly and help your child in the long run are:

1. What do you see as my child's strengths?
2. What do you think are the academic challenges for my child?
3. What would you do if my child were struggling academically with something?
4. How is my child doing socially?
5. How do you support kids in their social development? For example, how do you address challenges that happen at recess?
6. Is my child on grade level for reading? What about math, science and writing?
7. How does the school handle standardized testing and prep for those tests?
8. Can we talk more about your homework policy and how my child is doing with homework?
9. What can I do at home to support what you're doing in the classroom?

These are just some example questions, but could be used to start some productive conversations. While you are at conferences please make sure you check out the Book Fair in the Library.

We had a fantastic turn out for our grand opening of the Open Heart Clothing Closet. We were able to provide clothing for 114 people. We could not have done it without the help of our community. Thank you!! A schedule of days we will be open, will be in Tuesday folders today.

We also have Yankee Candle and Beef House fundraisers coming home today. Beef House will be here before Thanksgiving and Yankee Candle will be here before Christmas.

Our next meeting is 5:00, Oct. 25 at Agave Azul. We hope everyone can make it.

October 31st at Boswell Elementary

This year on October 31st, we are going to be encouraging our students to dress up as their favorite Book Character. Some examples of ideas might be Harry Potter, Pepe the Pig, Dr. Seuss characters, along with many other classic characters. We are asking that students make sure their costumes are school appropriate, if a prop is needed that it does not cause a disruption, and please make sure the masks stay at home. We appreciate your understanding and creativity with this special day. If you are unsure or have questions please make sure you ask, we would be glad to steer you in the right direction.
